

MACHINISTS.WEITZ & HANEY,

KIRK & CO.

CRESCENT FOUNDRY,

VANNSVILLE, INDIANA

Manufacturers of

STEAM ENGINES, STEAM BOILERSPORTABLE ENGINES

—AND—

CIRCULAR SAW MILLS,

The most Approved Pattern.

All kinds of Machinery appertaining to Railroads,

STEAMBOATS.

Distilleries, Flouring

Mills of all sizes, with the latest

Improvements attached.

TOBACCO SCREWS, &c., &c., and other articles of hardware and goods will be sent to the West and South by express.

Description.

HARDWARE

Dealers in Steam Gauges, Gum Bolting,

Fire Bricks, wrought Iron Pipes, Bolting

Cotton at Manufacturing Prices.

Repairing Done at Short Notice.

Wrought Iron to all parts to fit up work and Repair Boilers and Machinery.

All orders will receive our individual attention, and will be promptly filled on the most reasonable terms.

Office and Foundry on the Canal, corner of Eagle Street octo-dy

Schultze, Thuman & Co.,

Mechanics' Foundry,

Manufacturers and Builders of Steam Engines, Circular SawMills,*Boilers

Gumming Machines, Distillery and Mining Machinery, Malt Mills, Corn

Shellers, House Fronts, Cellar Grates

IRON & BRASS CASTINGS

Of every description.

Machinery of all kinds Made and Repaired.

Dealers in Brick, Fire Bricks, Steam Gauges, and Wrought Iron Pipes. Old Materials Bought.

We have the facility of the best Machines and workmen, and will give all work executed to the best individual attention. All orders promptly attended to our work, and charge reasonable prices.

Office and Foundry, corner of First and Lester Streets, Evansville, Ind.

N. B. Wornom sent to all parts to fit up work and do repairing.

Schultze, THUMAN & CO.

MAKE HOME BRIGHT AND PLEASE ANT.

More than building showy mansions,
More than dress and fine array,
More than station, power or pomp,
In a home there's quiet and taste,
More than home both sweet and tasteful,
Bright and pleasant, always fair,
Where each heart shall rest contented,
Grateful for each beauty there.

More than lofty swelling tides,
More than fashion's timid gales,
More than man's golden honors,
More than thoughts can well compare—See that home is made attractive,
By surroundings pure and bright;
Trees arranged with taste and order, Flowers with all their sweet delight.

Seek to make your home most lovely,
Let it be a smiling spot,
Where in sweet contentment resting,
Care and sorrow are forgot;
When the eyes of the world are waving,
Birds will sing their sweetest songs,
Where the purest thoughts will linger, Confidence and love belongs.

There, each heart will rest contented, Soothed by wishing for the soon,
If from the world it will not dash Memories of that cherished home,
Such a home makes man the better;
Pure and lasting its control—
Home, with pure and bright surroundings—Leaves its impress on the soul.

Value of Accuracy.

It is the result of every day's experience, that steady attention to matters of detail lies at the root of human progress, and that diligence, above all, is the mother of good luck. Accuracy also is of much importance, and an invariable mark of good training in a man—accuracy in observation, accuracy in speech, accuracy in the transaction of affairs. What is done in business must be well done, for it is better to accomplish perfectly a small amount of work than to half do ten times as much. A wise man used to say, "Stay a little, that we may make an end the sooner." Too little attention, however, is paid to this highly important quality of accuracy. As a man eminent in practical science lately observed, "It is astonishing how few people I have met in the course of my experience who can define a fact accurately." Yet, in business affairs, it is the manner in which even small matters are transacted that often decide men for or against you.

With virtue, capacity, and good conduct in other respects, the person who is habitually inaccurate cannot be trusted; his work has to be gone over again; and he thus causes endless annoyance, vexation, and trouble.

How to Prosper in Business.

In the first place, make up your minds to accomplish whatever you undertake; decide on some particular employment, and persevere in it. "All" difficulties are overcome by diligence and assiduity.

Be not afraid to work with your hands, and diligently too. "A cat in gloves catches no mice." He who remains in the mill grinds, not he who comes and goes."

Be frugal. "That which will not make a pot, will make a pot lid."

"Take care of the pence, and the pounds will take care of themselves."

Rise early. "The sleeping fox catches no poultry."

Flow deep,

While the stargards sleep,

And you will have no sell and keep."

Treat every one with respect and civility. "Every thing is gained and nothing lost by courtesy." Good manners insure success.

Never anticipate wealth coming from any other source than labor, and never place dependence on becoming possessor of an inheritance. "He who waits for a dead man's shoes, may go a long time barefooted."

He who runs after a shadow has a wear-some race."

Above all things, never despair.

God is where he was." "Heaven helps them that help themselves.

Follow implicitly these precepts, and nothing can hinder you from accumulating.

Ruskin on Judas.

In the Crown of Wild Olives

John Ruskin thus characterizes, in his trenchant style, those who live only to make money, as imitators of

Judas:

We do great injustice to Iscariot, in thinking him wicked above all common wickedness. He was only a common money lover, and like all money lovers, didn't understand Christ;

couldn't make out the worth of Him, or the meaning of His. He didn't want Him to be killed. He was horror-struck when he found that Christ would be killed, threw his money away instantly, and went and hanged himself. How many of our present money seekers, think you, would have the grace to hang themselves, who ever was killed? But Judas was a common, foolish, muddle-headed, plif-fering fellow; his hand was always in the bag of the poor, not caring for them. He didn't understand Christ, but believed in Him, much more than most of us do; had seen Him do miracles; though He was quite strong enough to shift for Himself, and he (Judas) might as well make his little hypocrisies out of the affair. Christ would come out of it well enough, and he have the thirty pieces of silver. Now, that is the money-seeker's idea all over the world.

Life too Short for Strife.

Charles Dickens relates the following of Douglas Jerrold:

Of his generosity I had a proof within these two or three years, which it saddens me to think of now. There had been estrangement between us—not on any personal subject, and not involving angry words—and, a good many months had passed without my ever seeing him in the streets; when it fell out that we dined, each with his own separate party, in the Strangers' Room of the Club. Our chairs were almost back to back, and I took mine after he was seated and left.

Opposite the Washington House,

I will attend to all kinds of Auction business. To the sale of Merchandise, Agriculture, Horsecars, and Real Estate, etc.

Actions, Bonds, Stocks, and Consols.

Opposite the Steamer Landing, Evansville,

Indiana, on the 2d of October, in the forenoon, at

Free Omnibus running from the D-

pot.

Opposite the Steamer Landing, Evansville,

Indiana, on the 2d of October, in the forenoon, at

Free Omnibus running from the D-

pot.

Opposite the Steamer Landing, Evansville,

Indiana, on the 2d of October, in the forenoon, at

Free Omnibus running from the D-